

TEACH-ONE TECH

AN INTERACTIVE STEM LEARNING OPPORTUNITY.

Dear Roe,

Teach One Tech, a local 501(c) 3 charitable organization, was founded to help primary and secondary students in Wake County understand the role of STEM in our communities. During our assessment of their needs we have initiated a program called "Tech Saturday's" where we take students on guided tours of local organizations, engage them through onsite presentations of ways to apply their current leanings, and give exposure to the students to foster greater interest in STEM disciplines as a career choice. Additionally, we realize that helping students understand that career paths extend through multiple disciplines and, by focusing now; they can become leaders amongst their peers. In addition, with your support, students can more readily visualize themselves in more rigorous disciplines offered through local organizations. The alarming data, according to National Center for Education Statistics, describes that forty percent of all students test at "below basic math levels" and fifty percent of all students test at "below basic science levels". One of our goals is to change this statistic, and with your help, we can keep students interested in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics and work to change the outlook of our future STEM leaders.

Your support, via a value tax deductible donation of five pizzas to feed fifteen participants will help our students to understand that the community supports them and wishes them well in their journey. Additionally, by partnering with Teach One Tech Inc. in paving the way for future scientist, technologist, engineers, and mathematicians, we can closely mold and guide our primary and secondary students toward focused, rigorous, and highly effective STEM related programs. In recognition for your help, we will feature your organization on, our website for February's Tech Saturday event, and in our promotional correspondence as a sponsor and an organization who contributes to the Wake County student communities.

I am available to speak with you or your staff to discuss additional sponsorship specifics. You can also review our website at www.teachonetech.com. We, and those we serve, deeply appreciate your consideration and look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Andre Curtain
